Hello Jenna Rousseau:

My name is Susan Schmitz and I am the immediate past President of Downtown Madison, Inc. (DMI). I have also been a member of the Rotary Club of Madison for 30 years. I (virtually) watched a Rotary presentation today by Major General Marcia Anderson. And yesterday I received a survey from the Homeless Consortium about the qualities that I would like to see in our next Police Chief. So when I watched the presentation today I could not help but think about the request I received yesterday—the Major General really focused on such leadership characteristics. I believe you are the staff to the City of Madison Police & Fire Commission so that is why I sent this to you. Please enjoy the presentation by Major General Anderson—It is filled with amazing information. AN IMPORTANT FYI—fast forward 27 minutes into the meeting to see her presentation—the beginning is filled with regular Rotary Club business. Thank you very much!

Hello,

My name is Rachel and I am a resident of Madison, WI (and a social worker in the city). I am emailing as I have been unable to access the listening session with the PFC happening right now (The zoom link was shared on the isthmus posting for the meeting but the zoom password was not).

I would like the following demands to be shared at the listening session today. These demands stem from my experience having witnessed the belittlement, invalidation and harm that Madison has caused the loved ones of Tony Robinson due to having not yet fired Matt Kenny. My demands also stem from having witnessed the devastating fear in the immigrant community as the Madison Police Department has coordinated with ICE to arrest and detain innocent community members who fled violence in their home countries just to work and care for their families. Last, these demands stem from having lived on Langdon street in May when police responded to the grief and pain of Black Madisonians and their allies by tear gassing them and threatening them with bodily harm.

I demand that the new Madison Chief of Police commit to:

1. Completely demilitarize the Madison Police Force
2. Fire Matt Kenny and Improve Police Accountability
3. Forbid local law enforcement from working with ICE

Thank you for reading,

Dear members of the Police and Fire Commission,

I am a resident of Madison. I live at 202 Farley Avenue. I urge you to seek a Chief of Police who understands that criticism and oversight is not a personal attack on themselves or on the Madison Police Department. A Chief and the department must be open to critical review of their practices and be open to growth and improvement. There must be accountability for excessive use of force and for policies and actions that lead to a disproportionate number of Black people in Jail and with fines and citations. We also need a Police Chief who will remain professional in their blogs, public comments and at City Council Meetings, School Board meetings and County Meetings. This was not the case with the previous Police Chief and the Interim Police Chief gives the impression that he feels that criticism of the MPD is a personal attack on officers.

I would also like the New Police Chief to be a proponent of change. We need to move away from command and control policing. The MPD needs to see itself as part of the community rather than as a controller of the community. The police department should be there to serve and protect all people even those who they may need to arrest or who are causing disturbances. Our justice system does not work with dead defendants. People who are having a mental health crisis should not be further traumatized, physically brutalized or potentially killed as a way to "keep the peace."

Thank you for your hard work in selecting a Police Chief.

With Gratitude,
Evy Gildrie-Voyles

Hi folks! There needs to be a clearer method to get into the zoom to make public comments. I was on my phone on Saturday, and from the committee meeting page I was unable to figure out how to give public comment, only to get into the web version.

Anyway, here's some comments via email!

Summary:

- Need expertise in diversifying responses (transformative/restorative justice)
- Don't pause the process
- Non-combative, non-"independent": integrated into the city services, working with the community
- Need a great communicator

- Willing to fight against the "warrior police" mindset

I agree with the comment I heard that the expectations around police are shifting. Do we expect them to deal with mental health issues? Homelessness? I personally hope the city and the new chief work to find ways to create or support other groups to deal with those two types of issues in particular. For mental health and homelessness, we should not be sending people who are strapped with deadly weapons. The incoming police chief should hopefully be someone with expertise in diversifying responses; experience with transformative/restorative justice a definite plus. (Side note: Madison needs to put some serious thought into our homelessness issues. Policing them with force is not right. I don't have solutions, but am willing to pay more taxes if it goes to a program that actually helps instead of pointlessly policing the homeless.)

However, I strongly disagree with the person who said that we should "pause" the process of seeking a new police chief while our expectations settle. Any candidates entering this process are going to be VERY aware of the challenges ahead, and the shifting ground under us all. Installing someone during a period of social and other flux could actually be a very good thing, to break through calcified assumptions and the disease of "that's how we've always done it".

As a longtime citizen, I'm sick and tired of combative police chiefs. Mike Koval's exit interviews seemed to show he thought the police were an entity on their own. He said: "I was increasingly frustrated people aren't letting me do my thing independently." Well, guess what. The police should absolutely NOT be an independent force in the city. The new police chief should have a plan to integrate better into the city agencies. (Side note: I would also like to see more police live in the communities they serve. This goes for the leaders, too!)

In a more recent post-retirement interview, Koval said: "While literally the destruction of Madison is being witnessed, is to me, completely disappointing, and an insult to the fact that you have thoroughbreds in the Madison Police Department, literally, among the world's best in crowd management, and they are literally having their hands tied, and they're like, ponies in a little county fair walking around in circles, rather than being able to surgically and intentionally deal with disruption."

This is nonsense. First off, he can't even speak a coherent sentence, and let's just ignore the weird horse metaphor. We need a new chief who can communicate well. Our new police chief needs to understand that WE, THE COMMUNITY, are in control. This is not forcing them to be "ponies" in a county fair. But I'm sick and tired of police wanting to be "warriors", (or horses? what?) using force and threats (or the threat of inaction) to get more autonomy and budget headroom. Less of this mindset please.

Thanks for listening and doing all the hard work of selecting a new chief!

Good employee morale is a critical component to the successful delivery of law enforcement services. The next Chief needs to commit to standing behind Department employees-the vast majority of whom provide exceptional service to Madison's citizens. The loyalty of employees to the new Chief will be critical.

I am writing to express my support for Madison to hire a police chief that will ENFORCE THE LAWS.

We need a police chief that will support the men and women in blue who risk it all to keep us safe.

We need fair, impartial enforcement of the law.....for all people...regardless of color.

Madison needs to be SAFE for its citizens. The rise in crime / and especially shootings is alarming. Youth crime, car thefts.

Downtown is dying....who wants to go and be harassed? Oh...forgot...no reason to go downtown because everything is closed down!

We need to keep Madison SAFE. Protect it's citizens.....before we all start packing up and leaving.

Good Madison leaders,

There are a lot of good police officers in Madison.

So tired of all the drama allowed to transpire this summer Let's get back to basics and defend those who defend us.
Look for a chief that's a traditional law enforcement leader, not a political marionette doll for those who would do/allow/abet downtown destruction.

Hello,

My name is Sarah Beach and I live at 890 Sky Ridge Drive, 53719. I am writing about what I would like to see in a new police chief.

Modern policing was founded off of Robert Peel's 9 Principles: <https://lawenforcementactionpartnership.org/peel-policing-principles/>

These principles are:

- Prevent crime without repression
- Police need the public's respect
- The public has to want to cooperate
- More force, less cooperation
- Fairness, friendship and impartiality for all
- Persuasion, advice and warning before force
- Police are the public, the public are police
- Not to judge or punish
- Absence of crime, not visible presence

Unfortunately a lot of this has been lost or muddled in modern policing.

A new police chief needs to look honestly at the police force and ask, "What do the police do well?" There are things the police do well: crime stop and prevention. However, police have been asked to take on a lot of tasks they are bad at: schools, mental health, de-escalating situations, military style force, public health, traffic stops, dealing with sexual assault, drug rehabilitation; the list goes on.

Our new police chief needs to bring restorative justice to the police. A lot of the community has lost any hope of working with the police; they need to address that wrong and work to right it. This will include giving up tasks they are bad at to focus instead on what they are good at. This comes back to the 9 Principles of policing.

This is a very hard problem, and a new police chief will not be able to solve all of it. However, we cannot bury our heads in the sand and hope it will go away. Thank you for your attention and service to Madison,

Sarah Beach

We need a leader who respects both civil rights but also willing to enforce the law indiscriminately without political agendas. Citizens deserve a safe community, violent insurrection and protests that damage private and public property cannot be tolerated. We have laws that need to be respected and enforced for a civil society to function for everyone.

Hello,

Please hire a new chief that lives in our city. I would like to see a chief that stands with our city instead of waging war against us. I want a chief that has integrity and values human lives. A chief that will not allow the MPD to continue with the current culture of racism in the department.

To whoever it may concern,

I'm a student at UW-Madison, currently living in the city, and I have some comments I'd like to make in regard to the selection of a new Madison Chief of Police:

- I'd like the new chief of police to hold all police accountable. This includes firing Matt Kenny, the officer who murdered Tony Robinson.
- I'd like the new chief of police to prohibit local police officers from working with ICE
- Finally, I'd like the new chief of police to have a priority to completely de-militarize the Madison police

Thank you,

Caution: This email was sent from an external source. Avoid unknown links and attachments.

To whom it may concern,

Sunrise Madison would like to express our position on the hiring of Madison's new police chief. We believe that in order to truly be accountable to Madison as a community, especially to Black and Brown communities in Madison, there can be no more "business as usual" for the Madison Police Department.

Among a longer list of demands Sunrise Madison believes...

- MPD
- must completely demilitarize.
- MPD
- must have greater systems of accountability and transparency with community oversight of the police. This must start with firing Matt Kenny.
- MPD
- must completely and permanently cut ties with Immigration and Customs Enforcement.
- MPD
- must drastically reduce its budget and reallocate those funds with community input.

In the wake of the murder of George Floyd, countless cities across the country are reevaluating the role of the police and taking much needed action to not just reform, but to radically alter the way policing functions in America. The Madison Police Department has the choice to either listen to the demands of the community and those most affected by police violence, or to look the other way and perpetuate the same systems of oppression it has been a part of for centuries.

It's time to step up and listen.

Sincerely,

Jenna Rousseau

Madison Police & Fire Commissioners:

Thanks for soliciting citizen recommendations for the next chief of Madison police. Here are mine:

Please, no kneelers. No crybabies. No virtue signalers. No school guidance counsellors. We want a police chief who will protect the public, not genuflect to special interests.

The Madison Police Department does not need fixing. Madison police are not racists. Madison police do not target minorities. Madison police respond to calls for help. Teenage car thefts are epidemic. Black teens and young men are shooting and killing each other and innocent bystanders. Anisa Scott, age 11, would be alive today if her accused killers had been jailed for their previous offenses. Restorative justice and low cash bail only recycle violent offenders into the community. Tony Robinson Jr. was a violent, chronic drug-abuser and felon — not a hero. The First Amendment is not a get-out-of-jail card for disrupting traffic, disturbing the peace in residential areas, vandalizing property, or harassing and assaulting peaceful citizens. Downtown Madison is boarded up and largely shut down because of permissive, progressive policies. Show some integrity and courage in the face of the mob. Good police chiefs in Milwaukee, Seattle, Dallas, and Rochester NY have recently quit. All are people of color. Reach out to them.

Dear Police Chief Search Committee and Alder Keith Furman,

The words of David Blaska, below, should be included in any discussion of the need in Madison for a fair-minded and effective chief of police chief. Not apologetic words that blame one race for the conditions of others, nor men for standing in the way of women, nor cisgender people for the existence of gender dysphoria. We need a chief who sees it straight down the middle for every race, gender, sexual orientation and the rest, and the laws need to be uniformly, competently and steadfastly enforced. While conducting interviews and making this fateful decision if rioting is your inspiration and revisionist history your guide, you'll fail your sworn duty to give Madison back the good kind of police chief that it lost when it let the situation get out of hand.

The city should consider one of the chiefs that resigned from Seattle, Portland or Baltimore and then let them do thier job without all the politicly correct restrictions on them. Find someone of the caliber of chief Koval then let them enforce all the laws all the time. The police in Madison are the finest force in Wisconsin they don't need extra oversight they need obstructions preventing them from doing their work removed.

Jim Oakley concerned Dane Co. resident, because what happens in Madison always filters out to the rest of the County.

Dear Police & Fire Commission –

I respectfully request that you ensure that the next MDP police chief:

- Will enforce the law as written, equally against all races, genders, etc.
- Will put pressure on county officials (DA, prosecutor) to actually prosecute and incarcerate criminals
- Will be politically neutral and not participate in political demonstrations, parades, etc.
- Will crack down on disruptive protests, like streets being blocked
- Will not ever kneel and give in to riotous mobs, like recently observed with Acting Chief Wahl and the BLM rioters who destroyed downtown

Madison is really going downhill. There are so many thefts, car thefts, and gang-related shootings. We need a chief to take charge and make our city safe for the law abiding.
