Fey: How will transportation to Community Resilience Hubs work?

A: Ideally hubs will be accessible by foot, but could use Metro to develop pickups for specific areas.

Leeper: Schools seem spaced well around community to serve in these spaces.

A: Priority of this project is City of Madison but will share information with other municipalities and school districts. New buildings being designed in MMSD will allow for features that could be useful for CRH models.

Leeper: Has there been any success in improving home resilience.

A: Looking at different models to localize for different size units from single units to multi-family housing. People will see benefits of prevention.
