ART+ Place

Tuesday, March 8, 2016

Doors open at 5:30pm,
with dialogue beginning at 6:15pm

Madison Museum of Contemporary Art, 227 State Street

Public art is away to feature public spaces; increase beauty, value, and overall livability in a community; attract visitors to an area; and pave paths toward long-term, sustainable enhancements of a city's public places.

The ART+ Place panel discussion will feature:

- Brenda Baker, artist
- Thomas Ferrella, artist
- Niki Johnson, artist
- Karin Wolf, City of Madison Arts Program Administrator

Their conversation will focus on the way public art projects can highlight the potential of public spaces and result in transformative placemaking.

This event is free for MMoCA members and employees of member businesses; $10 for non-members.

Advance registration is recommended.

Register for ART+ Place at mmoqa.org/artplus.

The ART+ series is presented by the Madison Museum of Contemporary Art, and is made possible through the generous support of Johnson Bank; Darcy Kind and Marc Vitale. ART+ Place is being presented in partnership with the Madison Arts Commission.
