Washington Hotel Coffee Room
(Existing business since September, 2005)
BUSINESS PLAN/VISION STATEMENT

In ten years, the Washington Hotel Coffee Room will be known as a hub of sustainable community action, offering an innovative urban experience in green dining in an eco-conscious and rejuvenating environment. We will be a green certified restaurant that features regional, sustainable and artisan foods with our foundation being to tell the Washington Island Wheat story. We will be the flagship outpost for Washington Island Brands' products, growing with the company as they continue to develop artisan value-added products that provide liveable wages to the Washington Island farmers. We will apply the principles of Jack Stack's "Stake in the Outcome" model of management to empower our employees and producers to understand and be recognized for their work, making sure everyone from field to table are justly paid. We will food as a tool for empowerment and education, not only in our business structure but also in the classes and workshops that we offer.

Our neighbors and members of the Lakeside community will be regular customers and contribute to weekly music, art and educational events. We will have an ongoing series of food education workshops, including tastings and how-to classes. Travelers to Madison will seek us out for our highly reputed great service and selection of regional artisan foods. We will develop 1:1 relationships with the producers we feature – not only Wisconsin products (e.g., cheese, meats, milk, produce, fruit) but also our coffee, tea and chocolates.

We will cooperate with other independent food businesses to share in the costs and investment of purchasing green restaurant products (cups, to-go containers, cleaning products). We will also be part of Madison's city-wide composting initiative, using our compost to fertilize our flower and herb gardens. The flowers and herbs we will sell during spring and summer as additional profits for the business. We will also be working with Slow Food Madison and their Mantova sister-city to plant heirloom varieties of vegetables for seed-saving purposes. In all our practices, we seek to make our decisions based on ecological and social responsibility as well as financial profitability. Our Mission:

We believe that pleasure and quality in daily life is achieved by slowing down, reviving the convivial traditions of the table, and celebrating the diversity of the earth's bounty.

We encourage sustainability and biodiversity through the appreciation and consumption of the region's seasonal, sustainably-produced artisan foods and support those who produce them.
