Vendor Name
SPX Corporation

Product/Service Description bus parts - farebox related

Reason For Request
This request reflects 10 years of projected spending with SPX Corporation. Madison Metro currently uses SPX Corporation fareboxes to receive fares from bus riders across Metro's system. To maintain these fareboxes and ensure revenues can be effectively captured, Metro needs to be able to acquire and install first-party parts. This will allow Metro to avoid issues with compatibility and security that may potentially come about as a result of the use of third-party parts. As fares are a primary revenue source for Metro, ensuring Metro is able to capture these fares is critical to Metro's mission. SPX Corporation was originally selected to provide fareboxes for Metro via a formal RFP process in 2014, ensuring their products were the best fit for Metro's needs.

Comments

SPX Corporation (Genfare) was chosen by a formal competitive selection process as the supplier for new fareboxes in Metro buses. Since 2015, the City has paid SPX Corporation $332,158 for parts to maintain and repair the fareboxes. These purchases were non-competitively selected, but supported the existing equipment which had been purchased competitively.
