FYI from the point of view of a dedicated pedestrian,

Madison is not ped-friendly.

- At Doty-King Webster crossing Doty or Webster you're no sooner in the x walk than the 'Don't Walk' light starts flashing; not enough time <sup>daunting</sup>
- The 'Countdown-of-Death' deters the diffident or feeble, but deters the confident and vigorous to cross
- Blair-Willy-Wilson-Nolen will be hell for peds, cyclists, motorists, and will be till we finally give up autos. (No transit!)
- Motorists only rubs us by respect peds in crosswalks.
- A ped only needs to be ridden down once by a cyclist hell-beat for leather from behind to have his life changed forever. (bike-idea) urbantrans, but need safe bike paths through heart. Educ in abt ped.
- A 'PB MV Commission' is not a commission, it's a foot-dragger. Imagine a 'Dog-Cat-Mouse Commission.' A dog will chase a cat but may scorn to chase a mouse. A cat will chase a mouse on Williamson, etc.
- Businesspersons, landlords, and residents, have been very lax this year about clearing sidewalks. Some haven't bothered to clear them at all this year. This is merely infuriating to someone young and vigorous like me, but to someone disabled, whether in a power chair or not, they forget plug lots, driveways
- No 'Demand' walk lights. All operating at all times
- Dayton Johnson, Gorham intersections on State give the lie to the 'pedestrian walk concept.' walk lights not often enough not long enough. Cars sit in sidewalk leaving parking lots
