

92386 Govindarajan Amendment 1

DRAFTER’S ANALYSIS: This amendment clarifies the extent to which records of the Police Department may be shared with the Office of the Independent Police Monitor. It requires the Independent Monitor, Police Department and City Attorney to execute a memorandum of understanding regarding access to specific types of records, which is the current practice. The ordinance also removes computer databases from the type of records that may be shared with the Office of the Independent Monitor to ensure security and confidentiality of such databases.
