Sunday, January 22, 2023 / 8am-2:30pm
Rally: Confluence at Library Mall (800 State Street), 12pm-12:45pm
March: 600-100 State Street / 12:45pm-1:30pm
discuss schedule, setup, march route, marshal plan
Women's March Inc. / Suhayl Santana

Registered speaker Suhayl Santana registered in support, not to speak, but available for questions.

Registered speaker Johnny Gonzales registered in support and wishes to speak.

A motion was made by Blake-Horst, seconded by Nash to approve this item for discussion and voting purposes:

Johnny Gonzales had 3 minutes for public comment and spoke on the purpose, schedule, and setup of the event as applied for.

Chairman Post referenced the application and the preferred location, schedule and route.

She then reviewed the Standard of Issuance for the Downtown Zone, MGO 10.056(5)(i)(2)(b)(i) which does not allow for a march route on State Street at the time requested. She explained one of the exceptions to the Downtown Zone rules, MGO 10.056(5)(i)2.b.ii.A, is if the event can ensure all participants obey traffic signals along State Street.

Johnny Gonzales spoke on the event's estimated attendance, 500-1000, and the marshal plan to make sure all traffic signals are obeyed.

SUSC member from Traffic Engineering, Jeremy Nash, spoke on the Downtown Zone rules and explained Traffic Engineering's viewpoint. He said, historically, marches with more than 100 people have a very difficult time controlling their attendees at each intersection.

Johnny Gonzales and Suhayl Santana gave more details about the marshal plan.

The setup was discussed.

Each SUSC member discussed Option 1 and Option 2 and what would be required, needed for either option.

There was a roll call vote on option 1, to have the rally in the Confluence at Library Mall and the march on State Street.
