1	It would be more educational and enjoyed more by the students because as they get older they have a hard time hanging out with younger students because they find less things in common with them and the more advanced (according to their grade level) activities would stimulate and encourage them to participate and learn more	3/2/2015 3:23 PM

1	My son has Down syndrome so it is crucial to know if a program can offer additional supervision for him.	3/6/2015 4:51 PM
2	I think there need to be a mix of kids for them to get used to the diversity	3/2/2015 3:26 PM
3	This is only useful if used specifically for programs that have that requirement, for example an All Girls Basketball Camp, where the participants must all be the same gender to register/participate. Otherwise, this is not an equitable function as it segregates based on the variable.	3/2/2015 3:07 PM

Q17 Are there any other ways that you would like to search on-line for afterschool and summer activities for your child?

Answered: 21   Skipped: 123

1	I need summer care one day per week. Do any offer that? Essential. It would make it very easy for me to find if that were offered.	3/9/2015 4:33 PM
2	It's really difficult to compare the options when all of the programs enroll at different times. For example, I understand that UADC is full for Fall after school, whereas Wisconsin Youth hasn't started advertised for next year yet. I think it's ridiculous that anybody is thinking about fall already, but this seems like a common theme. I was exploring summer options and can either find ones that are completely full, or ones that have yet to advertise. Presumably, I should figure out which one I'm interested in and register the day it becomes available? It's hard to coordinate with my kids' friends when we can't all compare options together.	3/9/2015 9:19 AM

9	Community base programs close to home, evening hour programs, family based programs	3/6/2015 4:34 PM
10	Ability to search by curriculum would be helpful. For example, our daughter is drawn to the sciences, so knowing which programs focus on STEM learning would be a big help.	3/6/2015 3:17 PM

11	NA	3/6/2015 2:31 PM
12	Personally, I am most interested in finding the best educational opportunities for my child. Currently, it is extremely time consuming and difficult to find everything that is offered in/near Madison. Having the information organized in one location will be a huge help to me. Thank you!	3/6/2015 1:45 PM
13	If there is a way for parents or kids to rate the programs and share feedback that would be helpful.	3/6/2015 1:35 PM
14	By program focus. Most programs offer a general set of activities. I would like to see more focused programs for full time summer camp like science, art, sculpture/pottery, biology etc.	3/6/2015 10:07 AM
15	No	3/6/2015 6:01 AM
16	In the search function, I want to be able to weigh my options between the types of programs - so I don't want programs filtered OUT by criteria, but rather narrows it down.	3/4/2015 12:01 PM
17	Programmatic offerings, especially for summer activities.	3/3/2015 1:51 PM
18	I think the search options not important to me, might be to others and vise versa. Why not create tab catagories at the top of the website and then within each main category you can search within a sub category for the type of program?	3/3/2015 9:12 AM
19	By included activities like swimming, field trips, etc.	3/2/2015 3:11 PM
20	Ability to search by days of the week (e.g., MWF), in addition to date range and AM/PM options	3/2/2015 1:21 PM
21	available transportation part of town search by parent to communicate by home language	2/26/2015 1:56 PM
