Hello I live about 2-3 blocks from the Madison Yards project and bike through the area regularly. I highly prefer the options that do not require the removal of street trees. Of options #1 and #2 I prefer option #1. When I bike in that corridor I typically use either the path through Rennebohm park or the bike trail that runs roughly parallel to university. Not due to the safety of the current conditions on Sheboygan Ave but because it doesn't really go anywhere, there is nothing at both ends of the street.
