Title

Declaring the week of March 23 - 29 Community Development Week in Madison, and expressing appreciation for the many groups which contribute to the housing, business, and service sectors of Madison's community.

Body

WHEREAS, the Community Development Block Grant Program was first funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1974 to assist cities to improve the living environment for low and moderate income families; and

WHEREAS, the City of Madison has received over $60 million in CDBG funds since the inception of the program; and

WHEREAS, without these funds, programs vital to the City's development of affordable housing, assistance to small businesses, provision of neighborhood services and general community development efforts would have languished; and

WHEREAS, the CDBG Program has provided the funds to support a number of innovative, problem-solving projects, sponsored by non-profit agencies including these organizations: Project Home, Madison Development Corporation, Porchlight, Inc., Operation Fresh Start Inc., Common Wealth Development, Wisconsin Women's Business Initiative Corporation, Urban League of Greater Madison, Habitat for Humanity, Genesis Development Corporation, the Boys and Girls Club of Dane County, Movin' Out Inc., Warner Park Community Recreation Center and many others.

WHEREAS, these programs with the assistance of Community Development Block Grant funds have provided significant and necessary services to Madison's residents;

NOW THEREFORE, David J. Cieslewicz, Mayor of the City of Madison, Wisconsin, and the Madison Common Council, do hereby proclaim March 23 through 29, 2008, as Community Development Week in Madison. We can thus join other cities across the nation to encourage the continued growth and well being of our community for all its citizens and to recognize the contribution which the Community Development Block Grant Program and its many participants and neighborhoods have made to the effort.
