

February 22, 2010

To all those interested in promoting first-time homeownership:

Enclosed are promotional materials for the upcoming Free Home Buyers Fair which will be held on Saturday, March 20, 2010 at the Alliant Energy Center from 8:30am-3:00pm. The fair is open to the public and intended primarily for first-time home buyers. Educational classes will be held throughout the day and there will be exhibitors available to answer questions and provide information. Attendees who attend the three required seminar sessions can earn their Home Buyer's Certificate, which is required for many mortgage loan and down payment assistance programs.

Translation services will be available upon request. Please call the Office of Community Partnerships at 608-260-2674 by March 5th to make the necessary arrangements.

We would appreciate you sharing the enclosed brochure with any interested parties and posting the flyer wherever possible. If you have questions or would like additional materials, please contact Amanda Wilson or Judy Olson. Thank you for your support of this community event.

Sincerely,

Amanda Wilson
