Eric Christianson

Alcohol License Review Committee

April 27, 2011

At the February 16th meeting of the Tenney Lapham Neighborhood Association Kyle and Gwen Jonson were in attendance. They discussed with us their plans for a new business in our neighborhood, the Johnson Public House at 908 E. Johnson Street.

We had a full discussion with them concerning their proposal, and they answered all questions put to them by our members. At the end of our discussion a motion passed unanimously to support their request to seek a Class B Beer and Class C Wine license from the City of Madison.

Since that time, the business has opened and is doing well, obviously serving a niche in the area. I am convinced that their operation will be consistent and high quality and will serve a need in the neighborhood and compliment the existing businesses in the district.

I am yours, sincerely,
