“Being there and connecting with them was a learning experience for all of us, talking about everything from new vs. old school rap, relationships, where we grew up, even life and death. It gave me a chance to bond with a group I normally wouldn’t outside those walls. Any judgement washed away each time we picked up the brushes next to each other, sometimes in silence, other times having very meaningful conversations. Opening yourself to experiences and people is the only way to learn and grow, and I left with more knowledge about their lives, the system and how I can make a difference.”

“Now, I try not to miss a day of drawing. I’m relaxed, I’m at peace when I’m drawing. I try to arrive in the library by 9 am so I can find my spot on the second floor or in the Bubbler Room and draw all morning .When I draw I feel good all day.”

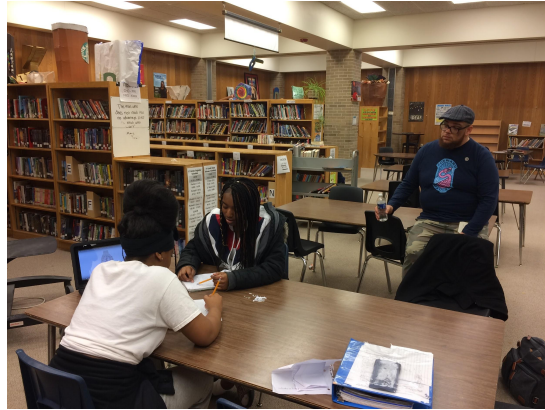

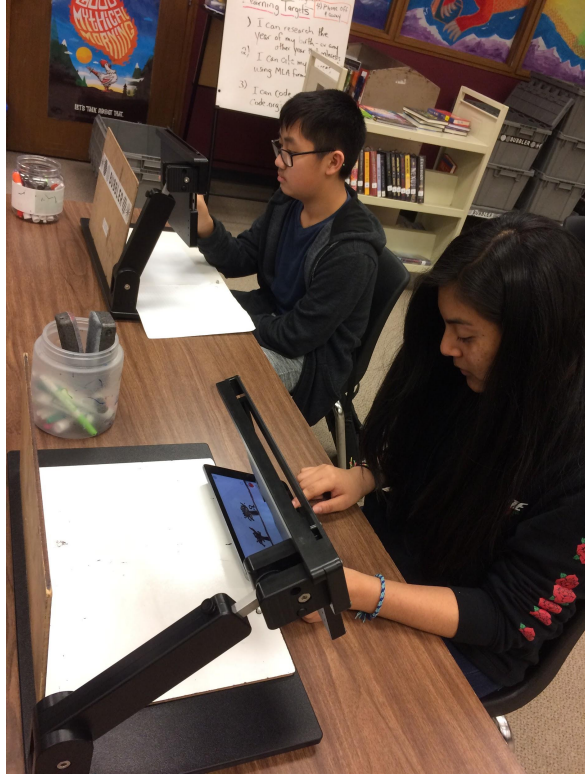

- Lonnie Evans, 2nd Floor Exhibiting Artist

I sold very little
but I met people
from the internet in real life which was very exciting!
