Dear Mr. Harrington,

Thank you for contacting me with your concerns about the National Research Council's 2006 publication, Fluoride in Drinking Water. I appreciate hearing from you.

I have forwarded your inquiry to the National Academy of Sciences and have requested that it address your concerns. I will send its response to you as soon as I receive it.

If I can be of further assistance to you, please do not hesitate to contact me again.

Sincerely,

Russell D. Feingold
United States Senator

Dear Mr. Harrington:

Thank you for contacting my office. I always appreciate hearing from the people back home, and I apologize for the delay in my response.

In order to be more responsive to your concerns, I have taken the liberty of forwarding a copy of your letter to the National Research Council. In the interest of time, I have asked that they contact you directly and provide me with a copy of their correspondence.

Again, thank you for contacting me. I hope you will feel free to contact me again with other matters of importance to you.

Sincerely,

Herb Kohl
United States Senator
