Welcome to the website of the 2015 Campus Master Plan Update for the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Here you will find important information related to the process and how you can make your voice and ideas heard. This site will be continually updated throughout the process and is designed to answer questions about the Campus Master Plan Update and encourage community and campus participation through its two-year development.

The need for a Campus Master Plan is rooted in Wisconsin Statutes 13.48(1), which requires all institutions to develop a long range facilities plan. UW Board of Regents policies also include planning principles that require facilities be planned to be responsive to programs and the way they are delivered; that our physical environment is planned

About this Interactive Site

Your voice is important and we want to hear from you! Join our campus community and provide feedback to posted questions and plans...also ask us your own questions or just sign-up for the monthly newsletter and project updates.

This site is your online hub for discussions related to the 2015 UW-Madison Campus Master Plan. There is a robust tradition of shared decision making and transparency here at UW that is deeply rooted in the 2015 Campus Master Plan process. We believe there is a community of passionate problem solvers out there just waiting to use their insights, expertise and ideas. Whether you are a current student, past alum, neighbor, faculty, staff, city resident or just plain interested in the UW, this is the place for you to interact.

Status Report: October 2015

The master planning team has completed a thorough analysis of our campus open spaces, transportation system, green infrastructure, and utilities, and paired it with an analysis of the redevelopment opportunities described in the 2005 Campus Master Plan. The master planning team is now brainstorming the most significant issues and different approaches to address current and forecasted issues and opportunities.
