My wife is a legal immigrant to the United States.

She applied to enter the United States legally, because fluent in all aspects of English, earned a BSN in nursing, paid all fees herself , underwent a background check, was approved for entry into the United States and waited her turn in line before coming to the United States.

We tried to sponsor a single relative of hers who has an undergraduate degree in engineering and a masters in business around thirty years ago.

This woman, who is now in her 50s, is still on the waiting list.

Here's is my question for the new police chief: Why should unvetted economic migrants be allowed to jump to the head of the immigration list ahead of people who are trying to become legal immigrants?

I request a formal response to my question.

Personally, I don't like it when someone cuts to the head of the checkout line at Woodmans.

Why should there be a back door around the immigration line that discriminates against Africans, Asians and Eastern Europeans who are at a disadvantage not having a land border they can cross to illegally enter the United States?

Please read my question exactly as it appears as I await the response of each candidate who is sworn to uphold the constitution.
