One other thing about bikes, they are not merely toys for people to play with on weekends. ( for some maybe) The first five years that I lived here, I worked at UPS, attended MATC Downtown and Truax plus a class at the UW, not to mention groceries and other shopping. My bicycle was a big help. Just thought I'd mention that, because some seem to view bikes as a luxury. I'll let you know if I can think of anything else.

Linda, I accidentally gave the census form to a resident, but I found the triangle plan anyway. I'm looking it over now. The only thing I can think of right now is what I talked about before i.e. adequate bicycle racks and a plan to keep them free of abandoned bikes and bike parts. I'll keep looking the plan over.
