U.N. cities addressing global issues

The City of Milwaukee became the 13th city to win a designation under the United Nations as a Global Compact City. The project took a year of work by the Milwaukee 7 Water Council and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. It requires the city to carry out a catalog of water quality projects that can be emulated elsewhere in the world.

Freshwater management
Milwaukee
USA

Business Council on Climate Change
San Francisco
USA

Health care center
Berlin
Germany

Sustainable tourism
Le Havre
France

Preventing corruption and unethical business practices
Asker
Norway

Climate change
Plock
Poland

Urban development
Ulan Bator
Mongolia

Reduce traffic fatalities in urban China
Jinan
China

The Environmental Street Project
As-Salt
Jordan

Industrial sewage treatment
Jamshedpur
India

Housing
Porto Alegre
Brazil

Rosslyn Strategic Development Forum
Tshwane
South Africa

Sustainable urban development
Melbourne
Australia

NORTH AMERICA
SOUTH AMERICA
EUROPE
AFRICA
MIDDLE EAST
ASIA
RUSSIA
AUSTRALIA