Hi Amy,

The following is a catalog for 3 inch siding that is of higher quality than other options we'd looked into in the past:

http://www.certainteed.com/resources/VS_RestClassic_Brochure_CTS448.pdf

There is also a product called "vinyl carpentry" that has accents and trim pieces that are more decorative:

<http://www.certainteed.com/resources/CTS160.pdf>

There is also a product called Restoration Millwork. It cuts, mills, shapes, and routes like lumber and can be painted with vinyl-safe paint:

<http://www.certainteed.com/resources/CTS373.pdf>

Regarding the porch corners, Chris has some less-than-perfect options he can discuss.

Fast facts:

Rosettes are circular decorative elements found in early Greek monuments, but also found on Federal-style architecture homes built in the early 17th/late 18th century.

Crown molding dates back to the time of the ancient Greeks and Romans, used for "crowning" an architectural element.

Fast fact:

Are shingles and shakes the same thing?

Usually, a shingle is sawn on both sides and is thinner at the butt than a shake. A shake is typically split on one or both sides. Shakes are generally thicker with more aggressive, rougher texture that is far less precise than that of a shingle.

Trim provides a beautiful transition between two styles of siding. On long expanses of board & batten or soffit, a trim piece offers a way to add a signature outline or focal point. Also, consider a trim piece to transition from the wall up to the soffit.

Fast fact:

Band [Belly] Board:

Find Your Perfect Color Mix

Designers are using every conceivable color combination to create distinctive exterior designs with a modern sensibility. You can do the same thing with your home. The optimum color blend has the power to bring out the best features of your home. Whatever your color goal is, CertainTeed can help you reach it.

This home has a cool theme (selection of cool grays), but it also has a subtle theme because these grays have similar color intensity and value.

Trim Color Combinations

Traditional white trim accentuates windows cleanly with any color siding, as shown below. Other options (left) include a more subtle combination, with trim and siding closer in hue and intensity; or a reversal of dark trim with light siding as a powerful way to frame your home.

This home has a warm theme with a cool accent (green), and the colors are stronger than a typical home.
