To the Board;

I'm speaking as a dentist who practiced in Madison for almost forty years. Water fluoridation is a proven public health measure that reduces dental decay in cities by about half. It has been one of the most successful public health measures ever. Scientists have studied this measure thoroughly, and it has proven safe. Removing fluoride from our water would significantly hurt our population.

I see no need to question its use now.

Kathleen A. Kelly, D.S.S.

Sent from Mail for Windows 10