Hello,

Last week on all of the three local Madison tv news broadcasts as well as a front page story in the Wisconsin State Journal told of the announcement of the three top finalists to succeed former chief Shon Barnes who left Madison and his top job that he had for nearly four years.

However, missing in all of this in the media----Madison citizen involvement.

I write to ask-----when and where can you all put together a candidate forum for the public and city taxpayers to not just come and meet them but also ask brief questions to all three so we get to know them and let them know of current concerns citizens have for our new police chief.

Can and will you put together such a meeting as like what we have seen other big jobs entailed...like MATC campus president and the Madison Metropolitan School chief...got to see in person and ask questions of all.

Rose Marie Gordon
