Re: High volume pedestrian and bike traffic from bike path to Jenifer St. (by Elks Club)

I am sorry to add to your undoubtedly packed email accounts, but am concerned that the discussion of the Jenifer Street/ Williamson Street Transit Study continues to neglect the vast work and conversations underway to promote alternatives to auto use in the isthmus. This email includes pictures which I hope brings home that local residents do embrace such transportation and decisions need to keep them safe and promote this type of growth. As pics may not transmit, a document is attached. Thank you for your time with reading this note.

Metro reports the human risk with bus turns. These photos - taken over a 10 min period last Tuesday – provide a picture of what’s at stake at this one spot. (Sorry, just Iphone pics. Note all different moments/buses.) Eastbound traffic turning right from Willy St. to Jenifer St. (Metro and illegal autos) completely counters the promotion of bicycling and safe travel by residents. A WI Bike Fed count in September 2013 recorded 474 bicyclists from 4:30 to 6 pm at this corridor. The tower at Law Park provides daily counts in the thousands (which doesn’t capture bicyclists who travel King and Wilson home.)
