Background Information

The City of Madison is a Certified Local Government and is charged with reviewing National Register of Historic Places nominations within the city and providing recommendations about the nominations to the Wisconsin State Review Board as part of the review process.

The Landmarks Commission shall review the nomination document and provide comments regarding the eligibility of listing the Heidelberg House located at 118 Vaughan Court for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

Typically, the Commission makes a motion to allow staff to write a letter of support to the Wisconsin Historical Society to meet the requirements of the Certified Local Government agreement.
