Dear Vision Zero team,

After reading the latest Vision Zero newsletter, I was left with this question: How many deaths and serious injuries were there on our streets last quarter?

Is there anything the city can share about who was impacted in those incidents, and how their lives were impacted?

And then based on that information:

How is that rate trending?

Based on that trend, what's the city's level of confidence, of reaching the goal of zero deaths/serious injuries by 2035?

Thanks!
