To the Landmarks Commission,

We are proposing alterations to the property at 1315 Spaight st. Madison Wi.

The current siding material is a rolled asphalt and it is over another style of siding. The comparable sidings in the neighborhood are either cedar 2,3,4' lap siding. We wish to apply insulation to the exterior of the house to make it more energy efficient. It will be finished with a Double 4" lap vinyl siding. This material gives the lap siding appearance. This is a Provia vinyl product(Nautica in color).

Currently the trim is painted and in rough shape. We want to apply new metal to the trim while maintaining the original appearance, change of color is the notable difference.

We will be installing new gutters and downspouts as well. Colors picked to match other trim around house. (SunGold in Color)

The current windows in the home are single pain windows and are both inoperable and inefficient for maintaining the heat in the home. We will replace these windows with new vinyl windows (Sandstone in color) The doors are also in rough shape and very inefficient for maintaining heat in the home. You will see the pics of the proposed new doors. The owner painstakingly picked doors which would maintain the appearance of the neighborhood, while allowing the home to be more weather resistant.

We are not changing anything structural to the home, not changing anything inside the home. That will all remain original.

Thank you,
Fred Schumacher

Current Windows

1315 Spaight Street

Madison, WI 53704

There are 16 windows on 1315 Spaight Street. 12 of them are from 1880 and 4 are from 1918. They are in various states of disrepair. Sometime in the 1960's aluminum frames storm windows were added.

The current status is:

Most of the windows are inoperable. Only 2 can be opened completely. Most of the others are sealed or rotted shut. There is very little functional glazing on any of the windows. Eight primary window panes are broken. Most of the windows are not safe.

Only 4 of the storm windows are complete and unbroken. 12 have missing windows, broken and missing frames, or broken glass. All exhibit significant corrosion.

It appears that the last paint applied on the exterior windows and frames was done in the 1950's when the asphalt siding was attached. Exposed wood sashes with a lack of paint or coverage have rot.

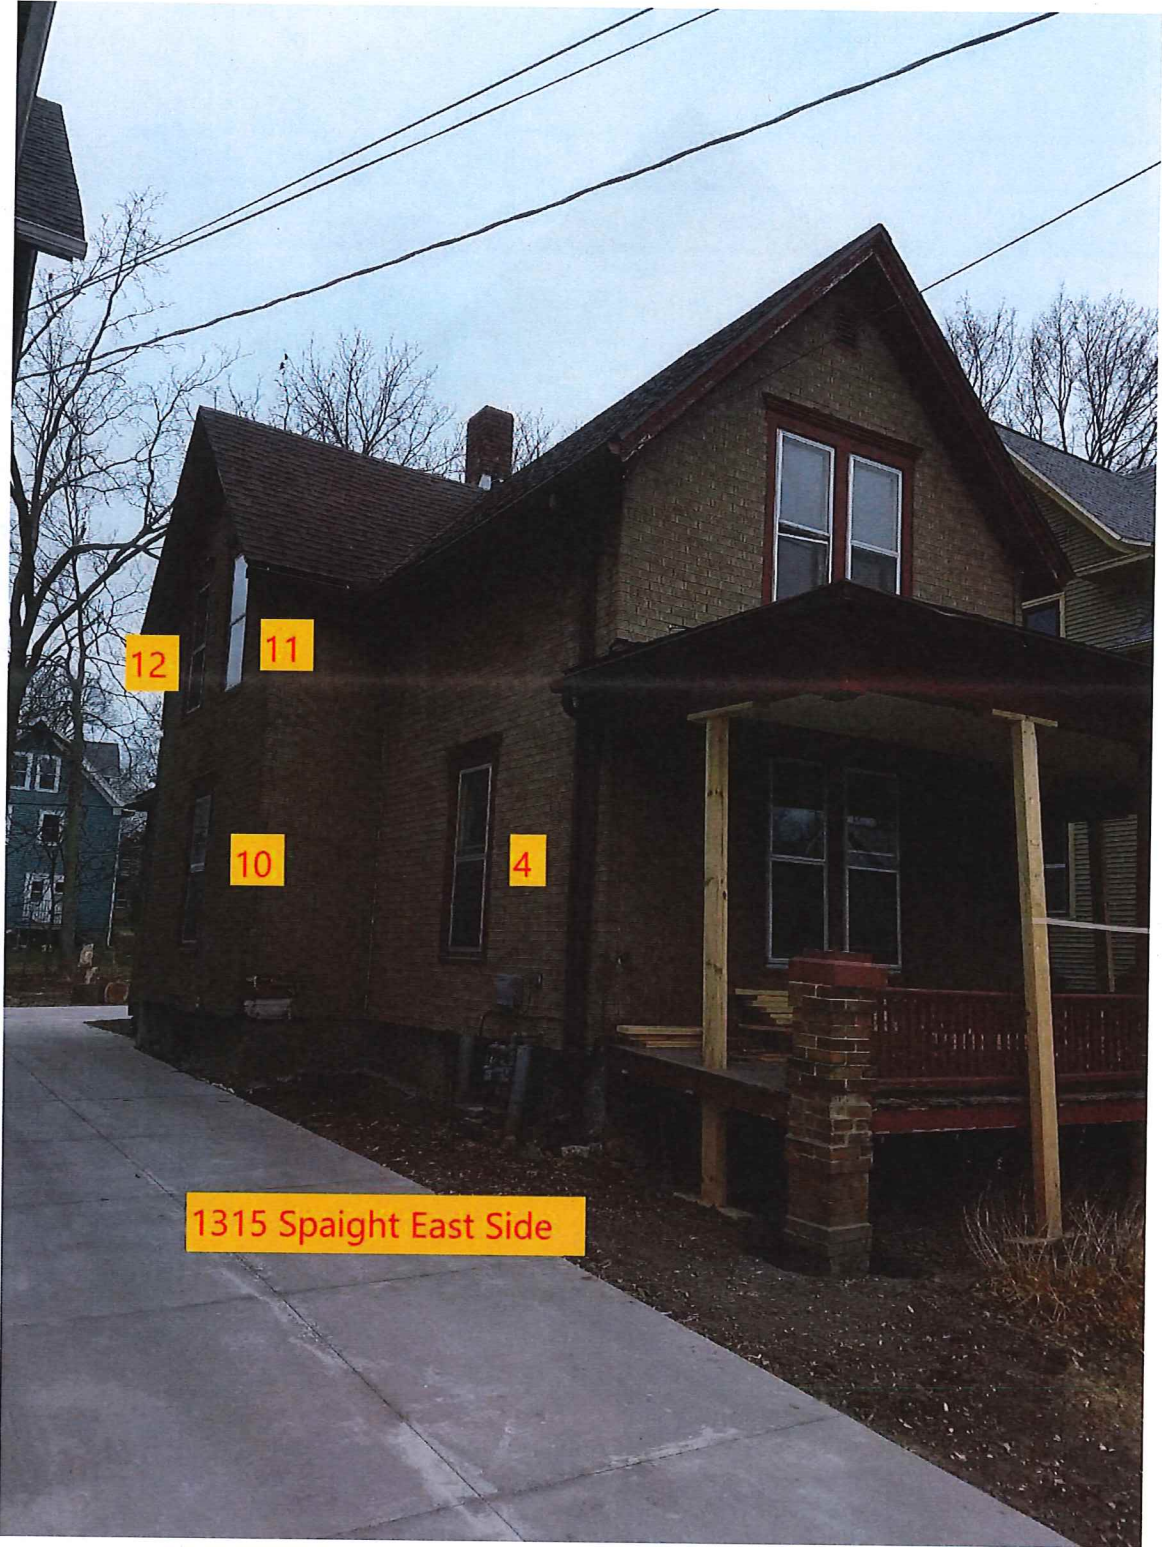

The inside molding on the windows is intact and unchanged from the original installation. Several of the 1880's interiors of the windows were stripped of the paint over 20 years ago and left exposed. The molding is still good, but the lower parts of the sashes have had exposure to condensation for that period and most show signs of rot and are soft enough to damage with a fingernail.

Table of individual window issues below.
