From: mmht2@charter.net
To: Scanlon, Amy
Subject: Frautschi-Rowland

Date: Sunday, January 29, 2012 12:25:05 PM

I'm beginning to understand the Frautschi-Rowland plan for State Street. In return for ten million dollars (chump change for the donors), Madison loses its historic architecture, twelve thousand square feet of space, and gains architectural empty calories. What Frautschi and Rowland gain is Madison's acquiescence to their own personal architectural billboard. Bad city planning, bad architecture, bad deal.

Margaret Marriott Madison, WI