

Hi Marsha,

I will not be able to make the meeting but wanted to let you know I would prefer the BP station not sell beer. I know they are looking for a new revenue stream, but I think it be a magnet for people who are cruising and looking to drink in the car. The gas station has been a decent neighbor lately. I see it has new ownership and have not stopped in lately. I have lived in the neighborhood for over 15 years. When I first moved to the area the gas station was not a very nice place to do business. It is better now but I don't think selling beer is a good thing.
