

Local Food Committee report

The Committee did not meet in July, but several of our projects moved forward. Amanda White and Carrie Vanderford Sanders were engaged to work on fundraising and financing plans. A staff team is recommending a team for site planning and architectural design services, and a representative of the team will join the LFC meeting by phone tomorrow. We are hoping that they can begin their work in September. At tomorrow's meeting (4:30, Room 300, MMB), we'll also be discussing a report from a Market District subcommittee, which recommends several strategies for connecting the Public Market to larger geographies, as well as the City's comprehensive planning process.
