

> On Jun 10, 2019, at 5:41 PM, Christine Ameigh <slidersandbeyond@gmail.com> wrote:

>

>

>> Hello Marsha and SASY, et al -

>>

>> I'm writing today because I am looking to expand our shared kitchen (food prep and production) into the space next door to our current location at 2817 East Washington Avenue. We are submitting an application for a limited production permit.

>>

>> At 2817 East Washington I currently have about 9 tenants in the space. All of these tenants are small, local food businesses. We prep, cook, bake and fry throughout the kitchen. We also have storage space for food production and catering supplies. On top of that we have a small boutique grocery store where we sell products that are made on-site (primarily baked goods). The store is only open Friday-Sunday, in the middle of the day.

>>

>> Some of the tenants have outgrown their current production space and would like more room to grow, while still working in a shared facility. The expansion to next door would hold approximately three individual small businesses (doing the same type of prep work as we currently do), and also a small area in the front to host cooking classes.

>>

>> At any given time there are anywhere from 7-15 people working in the kitchen, with the expansion we will probably see about 15-20 employees of the different businesses working at any given time.

>>

>> The deliveries to the building will be the same as what we have now, and no more activity will be happening.

>>

>> The exterior of the building wont change and No change in HVAC in the building. We will provide a site plan and floor plan.

>>

>> Thank you for your time and consideration,

>> Christine Ameigh

>> Owner, Slide Gourmet Potato Chips, Slide food cart, & Beyond catering

>> Owner, Christine's Kitchens

>> Pronouns (she/her)

>>