Mayors Innovation Project

- ▶ 28th meeting took place from January 24 through January 25
- ▶ More than 90 mayors and civic leaders
- ▶ All presentations and meeting materials available online
- ▶ Topics:
  - ▶ Designing for Extremes: featured the work of cities whose policies have tackled challenges that more directly affect specific populations and have, consequently, improved their community more broadly.
  - ▶ How will mayors make it count? Challenges and opportunities for the 2020 Census: an overview of the 2020 census implementation, highlighting best practice census strategies.
  - ▶ From Cradle to Preschool: Holistic Approaches to promote future success and collaboration across partners through which cities are protecting and promoting the brain development of infants through young children.

Interesting ideas

- ▶ St. Paul is instituting a “pink shovel” initiative where they have pink shovels by cross walks for residents to provide additional shoveling as needed.
- ▶ Census Tips:
  - ▶ Fill the data void with real information
  - ▶ Philadelphia - during parent teacher conferences, teachers are trained to give a 30 second pitch to the importance of the census for school funding and direct parents to a computer where they can fill out the form right there.
  - ▶ Social workers - When social workers do home checks for foster children, reminding the foster parents that the children should be counted as part of that household
  - ▶ Hiring people who already work with hard to reach communities
  - ▶ Implications of tribal identification for Native Americans - need to partner with Tribes
- ▶ Cities are conducting equity assessments of fines and fees and how they respond to complaints:
  - ▶ St. Paul: Issuing 60% of summary abatements for things like unshoveled snow and long grass to 30% of the people. What do these people need, and do more summary abatements help them? Instead, assembling volunteer crews to go mow the lawn or shovel when they get complaints.
  - ▶ Iowa City: if police pull you over for a broken headlight or tail light, they don't give you a ticket. They give you a voucher to get it fixed.

More interesting ideas

- ▶ Annual equity report cards
- ▶ Somerville MA has a “Children’s Cabinet” of Mayor, School Superintendent, health care partners, etc. to focus on early childhood issues
- ▶ Rochester NY screens young children for preventable learning delay issues - e.g. vision and hearing
- ▶ Registering people to vote at free tax prep clinics
- ▶ Atlanta’s Displacement Free Zones
- ▶ Homesharing between seniors and college students
- ▶ Assessing accessibility needs via “walk-alongs” with folks that have mobility challenges

Highlights
