Dear City Officials,

I respectfully urge your support for The Langdon. Students are an integral part of the economic and cultural experience of the City, and Hub Lifestyle brings a unique hospitality experience that will be woven into the fabric of the community.

Existing inventory fills up quickly, and this project will help enhance the City by generating much needed tax revenue and creating jobs, which are extremely important in these uncertain economic times.

Core Spaces has incorporated feedback from the community, and they have the experience needed to create a world-class residential community that both students and Madison residents can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Karen Cahill

Dear City Officials,

I respectfully urge your support for The Langdon. Students are an integral part of the economic and cultural experience of the City, and Hub Lifestyle brings a unique hospitality experience that will be woven into the fabric of the community.

Existing inventory fills up quickly, and this project will help enhance the City by generating much needed tax revenue and creating jobs, which are extremely important in these uncertain economic times.

Core Spaces has incorporated feedback from the community, and they have the experience needed to create a world-class residential community that both students and Madison residents can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Kailey Fitzgerald

Dear City Officials,

I respectfully urge your support for The Langdon. Students are an integral part of the economic and cultural experience of the City, and Hub Lifestyle brings a unique hospitality experience that will be woven into the fabric of the community.

Existing inventory fills up quickly, and this project will help enhance the City by generating much needed tax revenue and creating jobs, which are extremely important in these uncertain economic times.

Core Spaces has incorporated feedback from the community, and they have the experience needed to create a world-class residential community that both students and Madison residents can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Tyler Brovelli

Dear City Officials,

I respectfully urge your support for The Langdon. Students are an integral part of the economic and cultural experience of the City, and Hub Lifestyle brings a unique hospitality experience that will be woven into the fabric of the community.

Existing inventory fills up quickly, and this project will help enhance the City by generating much needed tax revenue and creating jobs, which are extremely important in these uncertain economic times.

Core Spaces has incorporated feedback from the community, and they have the experience needed to create a world-class residential community that both students and Madison residents can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Derek Burdick

Dear City Officials,

I respectfully urge your support for The Langdon. Students are an integral part of the economic and cultural experience of the City, and Hub Lifestyle brings a unique hospitality experience that will be woven into the fabric of the community.

Existing inventory fills up quickly, and this project will help enhance the City by generating much needed tax revenue and creating jobs, which are extremely important in these uncertain economic times.

Core Spaces has incorporated feedback from the community, and they have the experience needed to create a world-class residential community that both students and Madison residents can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Graham Schroeder-Gasser

Dear City Officials,

I respectfully urge your support for The Langdon. Students are an integral part of the economic and cultural experience of the City, and Hub Lifestyle brings a unique hospitality experience that will be woven into the fabric of the community.

Existing inventory fills up quickly, and this project will help enhance the City by generating much needed tax revenue and creating jobs, which are extremely important in these uncertain economic times.

Core Spaces has incorporated feedback from the community, and they have the experience needed to create a world-class residential community that both students and Madison residents can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Jim Foye

Good Evening members of the UDC,

I am writing you regarding Agenda Item #10- 126 Langdon Street- HUB II. A project like this will create and maintain hundreds of jobs for men and women in the Union Building Trades. As recent examples, HUB I and The James projects were a great success, building and sustaining local family careers for years to come while in turn also creating much needed student housing which is supportive for local business growth. The City of Madison will continue to see these families (Union Building Trades Members) invest in their communities both financially and emotionally. The men and women of the Union Building Trades are trained at the absolute highest level of skill and safety. They take great pride in the craft they hone throughout their time as a registered apprentice and beyond. These careers I am speaking of not only pay a fair wage within this community, they also pay fair benefits such as healthcare and retirement. There is no better feeling described than to know you will be making a positive difference in someone's livelihood as well as their families, their neighborhood, and your community.

I am writing you in support of the new development on 126 Langdon Street- HUB II.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Anthony Anastasi
