Dear Finance Committee,

I am writing to request that you prioritize our city's resources for the needs of the most vulnerable in our budget, and support programs and initiatives for affordable housing and more homeless shelters, and not provide additional funds for the police budget. Their budget is such a large proportion of our taxes already, and there are other more pressing local needs in the areas of public health, housing, food insecurity, and support for vulnerable families. I also ask that you continue supporting public art in the the budget, as this brings joy and creativity to so many during such a challenging time.

Thank you,
Amy Owen

Subject: Deny MPD's Request for Capital Funds

Dear Finance Committee,

My name is Ryan Eykholt. I live on East Johnson Street, 53703. I am emailing with regards to agenda item 21 and the 2022 Executive Capital Budget. I strongly oppose the Madison Police Department's request for more funding to replace their surveillance drone. I oppose MPD's request for $196,000 for 'machinery and equipment'. The police do not need more money to surveil and assault Black and Brown communities. The police do not keep us safe, and giving the police more funding is damaging to our democracy. I urge you to deny MPD's request for more funding. Refund our communities. Thank you.

All the best,
Ryan Eykholt

As you discuss the budget over the next two days, I encourage you to look closely at the police budget. It seems in line with past and future years, and in a post-George Floyd world we are asking to move resources away from police, not to keep things the way they are. That frees up resources to address the root causes of crime rather than its symptoms (which is what police do).

Budgets are moral documents and reflect that priority.
