Dear Transportation Commission,

I am writing about the proposal to fill in the gaps in the Eastmorland sidewalk system.

I walk quite a bit in this area and have never understood why sidewalks suddenly disappear and reappear. When snow has fallen I end up walking in the street rather than tramping through someone's snowy yard, and this is dangerous for me and for the cars.

I suspect those without the sidewalks will oppose this measure, in part because they will have to shovel sidewalks once they have them. Too bad. Almost all houses in this neighborhood have sidewalks and the responsibilities that come with them. Sidewalks allow old people, like me, more mobility in winter.

I strongly support this project.

Sincerely,
Mary Garrett
