Title
Approving Request from University of Wisconsin to allow the Urban Canid Project to continue for tenth year in Madison Parks

Body
UW-Madison is entering the 10th year of the UW Urban Canid project and have submitted a request to continue the project in Madison Parks. The project will focus on urban red fox and coyotes. There are nominal research studies examining urban red fox in North America. The Board of Park Commissioners will receive an informational report of 2023 study findings. UW-Madison requests approval to continue trapping in select Madison Park properties, under the condition of communicating with designated staff prior to commencing any such activity.
