I live behind the woods that got chopped down today, and I'm really sad. I know the person getting this email probably has nothing to do with the approval process, and I didn't know about this until far too late, but y'all really unanimously voted to tear down the last wooded area on the isthmus. The last nature walk.

Whoever did approve that really missed the mark, and I just needed to vent. This is really sad. It's the only reason I live at the apartment I live at.

This is a big bummer. Anyway. It's too late now. This is gross
